

Aries

Not a lot of aspects are specifically being made to your sign here, but you're bound to appreciate the more active feelings to come.

Taurus

Your sign is the seat of the primary factor in the inspiration and active energy, and it may even foreshadow a theme of higher energy that will occur for you in the next 7 years, for a 2 - 3 year period of time.

Gemini

The New Moon is in a sign that squares yours, so unfortunately it may be difficult to receive the greatest benefit from it.

However, to some extent you will still feel the inspiration, it just may compel you to go internal and be inside your head, which isn't like your extroverted self.

Cancer

You are well positioned to receive all the benefits of this equation, especially if you were born around June 23 - July 1 or so.

Leo

Not too many aspects are occurring in relation to your sign, but the inspiration is certainly going to reach you, and probably influence your ambition and the will to create something.

Virgo

As the sign the New Moon occurs in, you are of course the most well positioned to receive its benefits.

You may notice all kinds of things coming together in your life during this next couple weeks, particularly in regard to social activity or romantic pursuits (Venus), especially if you were born around August 23 - September 4 or so.

Libra

Your sign isn't the most heavily aspected during this time, but you certainly will receive that active energy and inspiration, although you're likely to be sort of internal and introspective this month.

Scorpio

Well positioned to receive the benefits of this energy in one way, in another way, due to Uranus in your opposite sign, you could feel a bit of confrontational energy, or perhaps you or other people being extremely opinionated to the point of overbearing intensity.

Sagittarius

The New Moon squares your sign, which is unfortunately not the best way to receive it. Every year the Sun in Virgo squares your sign at this time, causing you to be more introspective and less extroverted.

Thankfully this time, you'll be equipped with mental energy and a desire to think and learn while you are in your own space.

Capricorn

With the New Moon and the primary energy being activated in it both forming positive aspects to your sign, you are likely to receive the inspiration and intelligent energy in a way that will help you with work or career.

Aquarius

Being the sign of Uranus, you are very close already to being composed of the energy hitting everybody with inspiration right now.

Therefore, others are likely to appreciate your inherent qualities more in the next couple weeks, and you'll feel slightly more like yourself.

Pisces

As the sign opposite this equation, there's a chance you won't receive the energy all that well, and you may become a little critical of yourself.

However, there's also a great possibility the inspiration will hit you the hardest due to Uranus' positive aspect to your sign, especially if you were born around February 20 - March 3 or so.

(credit given to Higher Perspective)